Items of Interest from All Over the Territory.

The school board met Monday and re-employed all the teachers employed last year, except in the first primary department. Miss Miller of Tempe will take the place of Miss Hicks in this department. The meeting of the board was a stormy one. The bone of contention was the principalship, but the storm finally calmed down and Prof. A. J. O'Connor was re-elected. — Florence Blade.

Richard Brady, the Tucson real estate and live stock broker, was a visitor at the BLADE sanctum Monday. He has two cattle ranches in this county and says the feed is still good on his ranges. Speaking of the railroad situations here, he stated that there was no doubt in Tucson that the Southern Pacific will build the Arizona & Eastern railroad at once. — Florence Blade.

Republican congressional possibilities are bobbing up everywhere but as yet a boom does not seem to have centered on any one candidate. B. A. Fowler of Phoenix, W. F. Cooper of Tucson and Allen T. Bird of Nogales have already been mentioned and the latest gossip connects the name of Colonel Wm. Herring with the nominations. Mr. Fowler is undecided, Mr. Cooper is an out and out candidate, while Mr. Bird, it is said, will not be a candidate. It is conceded that Maricopa County will be allowed to name the man. — Tucson Post.

The loan commission yesterday advanced a resolution for the funding of the bonds of Santa Cruz county to the amount of $30,000. The application for the funding of the bonds was made by the holders, M Donald & M Kay of Chicago. The matter was before the board at a meeting on Thursday. It was desired, however, to connect the bonds with the part of the Pima county debt for which they were issued by Santa Cruz county on the division of the counties. Information on that point having been furnished by the treasurer of Pima county yesterday, the commission decided to fund them. The only question now before the commission is the date that shall be given the bonds. — Phoenix Republican.

E. H. Harriman, J. Kruttschnitt, director of transportation of the Harriman lines, F. W. Hill of the Northern Pacific, James Stillman, banker, New York, William G. Rockefeller, Sunday School teacher of New York City, Mr. Farrer, of the Union Pacific and J. N. Hill, U. P. R. R. office, New York, visited Cananea this week and spent several days looking over the camp. Mr. Harriman expressed surprise and pleasure at the extent of the smelting and concentrating plants and mines, and stated that the vastness of development work and railroad and wagon road construction was admirable and showed great engineering skill. He expressed great hopes for the future of the camp. — Cananea Herald.

Stolen Goods Recovered.

Steve Aguirre, is speaking about the robbery of his store in Naco, Sonora, last Thursday night, stated that the thieves were caught and arrested and most of the stolen goods were recovered, thanks to the good work of Ranger Brooks. Brooks immediately caught the trail and followed it for several miles, in a circuitous route until he located the goods in a cache, in a field. He then continued to follow the trail until it ended in Naco, Sonora, where Mexican officers finally arrested the thieves. Much drawn work, zarapes, and other kinds of Mexican work were stolen, also a cash register with its contents. Most of the good were found, but the cash register was ruined and its contents, $90 in gold and $20 in Mexican money has not been recovered. Mr. Aguirre praises, in the highest terms, the work of Ranger Brooks. — International-American.

Arizona Indians at World's Fair.

The latest addition to the mixture of strange peoples at the World's Fair is the band of 150 Moqui, Zuni and Pueblo cliff dwellers, which arrived at St. Louis last Friday night, according to the St. Louis Republic. The band is intended for the city of cliff dwellers on the Pike at the World's Fair.

They are headed by their chief, Governor Ramos Archuleta, a member of the San Juan tribe, and have with them their priest, Ciske, besides a great number of the young men and maidens, and sages and seers of the tribes. They arrived Friday night at seven o'clock from New Mexico and Arizona and were taken immediately to their homes on the Pike.

The most striking figure of the party is Archuleta, their hereditary governor. He is the proud possessor of a cane given to him in 1863 by President Lincoln and a silver medal presented to one of his ancestors in 1837 by President Van Buren. The medal is an heirloom of the rulers of the tribe to which he belongs.

One of the cherished possessions of the band is a sacred American eagle, which was brought along with the party. The bird is an ancient one, probably antedating any member of the band. Other live stock are a quantity of rattlesnakes to be used in the Moqui snake dance to be given on the Pike. They have also many of their heathen idols, curios and specimens of their basketry, pottery and bead and burnt leather work, with the materials for making more. Many of the Indians are Christians. — Ex.

Lost Mine in Arizona That was Worked by Ancients.

E. A. Sanford has returned from a trip to Canyon Greeks, about thirty miles north of Globe, where he examined an old mine, supposed to have been worked by the Spaniards in very early days, or by people antedating them, as all the implements found are of stone. The ground is supposed to have been mined for silver, though considerable turquoise in small pieces, is scattered through the dumps.

The development of this old mine was extensive, and to duplicate this today, Mr. Sanford says, would cost more than $50,000.

The old workings have the appearance of having been filled in purposely with waste and there is only one opening—a tunnel—which it is possible to enter. This Mr. Sanford explored and found upwards of fifty stone hammers of various sizes.

The old mine is quite interesting and its exploration might possibly develop something of value but, being on the San Carlos Indian reservation no prospecting of consequence has been attempted. — Tucson Star.

Jim Durnell Constable.

James Durnell was yesterday appointed to the office of constable in Douglas and as soon as he files his bond and takes the oath of office he will assume its duties.

Mr. Durnell has lived in Arizona since 1882, coming here in that year from Texas. He served last in an official capacity as deputy sheriff of Santa Cruz county, under Sheriff Tom Turner. Before that he had often served as a deputy in other parts of the territory.

Mr. Durnell brought his family to Douglas last October since which time he has resided here. For several months he has had charge of the pumps which supply the water for the Copper Queen smelter.

Mr. Durnell says it shall be his aim to do everything in his power to maintain good order in Douglas and asks that he be given the assistance of the citizens in his efforts.

In the discharge of his official duty it is hoped that Mr. Durnell will meet with success and that conditions in Douglas will be improved in the future. — International-American.

Copper Magnates After W. C. Greene.

As a sequel to the defeat of the John W. Gates crowd in the Greene Consolidated Copper Company, of Cananea, Sonora, by W. C. Greene, the New York Commercial, controlled by the Standard Oil and Amalgamated Copper interests, is now attacking the latter viciously, openly and by innuendo. The reason for the action of that paper is apparent: Greene has shown himself, the farmer and prospector that he was a few short years ago, a creative genius, capable of coping with the best of them. Now they will tear down the man who is building up the greatest copper mining camp in Mexico.

Greene does not need the championship of the Enterprise—he is thoroughly capable of taking care of himself. The position of this paper is this: we stand first for any one who builds up Mexico, and second for our countrymen, Americans, who are doing well by this country. So far, it appears that W. C. Greene has done much in this regard, while such men as Gates and Rockefeller have done nothing that benefits either the United States or Mexico, or the people in either of these countries.

W. C. Greene may not be a saint, but he went into a virgin territory four or five years ago, and to-day he has the greatest copper mines in Mexico; a city of 18,000 people is the result of his industry; he is paying American wages to Americans; he is a creative genius—he is not sucking the life blood out of the people of the country like the vampire, Rockefeller, nor is he a man who wants something for nothing, like the gambler Gates.

To the best of our information the copper magnate "Col." W. C. Greene, is plain "Bill" Greene, the poor farmer and prospector of a few years ago, with his "heart on his sleeve." To say the least, he is the choice of evils—it is the principle we are arguing for, not the individual. — Chihuahua Enterprise.

Mark Smith Return from Washington.

Hon. Marcus A. Smith, ex-delegate to Congress, returned the first of the week from Washington. He states that he has been successful in blocking the statehood bill when it comes up in the Senate. Mr. Smith has returned an ardent supporter of Alton B. Parker for the presidency. He thinks Parker can carry New York state although he has not displayed strong vote getting powers in the past. Mr. Smith was asked what Parker stood for and replied that Parker did not stand for any set policies and that is why he will prove a good candidate. Mr. Smith naturally feels good over the action of the territorial committee in turning down Mr. Hearst and selecting Tucson as the meeting place of the territorial convention. It is not thought that Mr. Smith and his supporters will ask for a Parker endorsement although they will be careful to see that Parker men are selected as delegates. Mark has led the Democratic crowd for so many years that it is impossible for him to keep out of politics. He may be said to be a receptive candidate for delegate to Congress, but it is a little early to predict the way the forces will line up. — Tucson Post.

Attention Democrats.

There will be a meeting of the Santa Cruz County Central Committee at Nogales, Saturday, April 30, 1904, at 8 o'clock in the evening, for the purpose of filling vacancies on the committee and the transaction of such other business that may properly come before the committee.

New Colonization Scheme.

F. J. Martin, a colonization promoter of Chicago, has arrived in Phoenix with a new scheme which he advocates for the reclamation of arid lands. Mr. Martin says: "There are many thousands of acres not now under cultivation beneath which water can be found at a depth from twenty to one hundred feet. As a matter of fact Arizona possesses many lost streams which are under ground. If this is not so, why are the rivers so broad and powerful at their mouths? This water must come from a permanent and definite source. We have all heard of lost rivers in Wyoming, Idaho, Arizona and Texas. I hold that the Colorado, the Rio Grande, the Big Wind, the Sweetwater and other streams of the Rocky, Sierra Madre and Altar mountain ranges demonstrate this. This water must find an outlet somewhere. Not all of it seeps through gravel strata into artesian basins.

"My plan would not be philanthropic. Myself and my associates want to make money for ourselves. If it helps others, as it certainly will, we will be glad of it. We propose to advance money for sinking wells and procuring water. Of the settlers we will only ask that they till the soil. When the soil begins to yield its increase, we want 8 per cent on the capital invested. It would be our plan to establish small colonies in different parts of the country, where large wells are to be dug. London and New York capitalists are back of the enterprise. Within three months we expect to have our plans formulated, and to be in a position to present our proposition to the homeseekers of the world. At present I am making a tour of the country to ascertain the most desirable locations for the establishment of colonies." — Mohave County Miner.
